Baltic Peasants Slay Red Officials

Farmers Battle Controls

Soviets Admit Loss of Agents

By VINCENT BURKE

WASHINGTON — (UP) — Farmers in some areas behind Russia's iron curtain have murdered several communist officials in a bitter struggle against farm collectivization, foreign reports revealed today.

One of the reports came from the official Soviet publication, Soviet-Lithuania.

The publication's Dec. 2 issue said "bourgeois nationalists" in Lithuania were resorting to "intimidation and murder of Soviet folk" in an effort to "hinder the great work of restoring and expanding the people's economy."

Soviet Russia only recently began efforts to impose collective farming on the Baltic states which it annexed in 1939.

The official disclosure of the rebellion in Lithuania was coupled with an unconfirmed report from Poland that approximately 12 farm agents of the communist-controlled government have been slain since Sept. 1 by angry peasants.

Poland has described its attempts at farm collectivization as "voluntary."

Despite the difficulties encountered, there is every indication the Kremlin plans to follow through with collectivization throughout Soviet-dominated areas. Marshal Tito's refusal to speed up the program in Yugoslavia was a basic reason for the Tito-Kremlin split.

The article in Soviet-Lithuania was written by A. S. Trofimov, secretary of the Lithuanian party's central committee.

He said "bourgeois-nationalists" were staging a great fight against collectivization and were "inspired by beast-like fury and wild hatred" against the workers of the country.

Trofimov called for mobilization of the party's forces to carry out collectivization, stamp out the Kulaks and "liquidate the remains of the bourgeois-nationalist underground."

See Reborn Reich Army

BERLIN — (U.P.) — German officials voiced hope today for a reborn German army as they and Anglo-American-French authorities moved to get unified anti-Soviet administrations working both in west Berlin and the occupation zones of western Germany.

British officials reported that the western big three were planning to unite west Berlin under a three-power Kommandatura and abolish the boundaries between the western sectors of the city.

In Bonn, where a German constituent assembly was drafting a constitution for western Germany, a delegate issued an appeal for the remilitarization of Germany. The delegate, Carlo Schmidt, advocated the incorporation of German armed forces in an international army.

The top politicians of west Germany working with Schmidt at Bonn demanded that the western allies keep hands off once the proposed government is established and functioning.

Ohio Grangers Open Convention

CLEVELAND—(AP)—The 76th annual convention of the Ohio State Grange opened today with 500 delegates from the state's 900 subordinate granges in attendance.

Today's business sessions featured introduction by delegates of policy resolutions previously approved by subordinate granges. These are expected to state the grange position on national, state and local policy matters bearing on agriculture.

PERON CHIEF CHARGED

BUENOS AIRES —(AP) — A federal judge's report lists the chief of President Juan D. Peron's police bodyguard as receiving a $92,000 bribe for backing an Italian-Argentine aluminum factory deal which fell through.

Firemen, Police Get Pay Boost

By SHELDON BINN

Service-Safety Director Earl T. Garrison late yesterday ordered the police and firemen's payroll revised to conform to the schedule of wages stipulated in the initiated ordinance approved by voters Nov. 2.

He acted after receiving from City Solicitor C. J. Kalbfleisch a requested legal opinion clarifying the question of whether the Dec. 15 payroll for police and firemen should be drawn up under the new salary schedule or the old one.

"It is my opinion," Kalbfleisch wrote, "that the ordinance initiated and passed by the electors of the city has the same effect in all respects as if it had been passed by council. Salaries of the fire and police departments should follow the schedule as provided in the initiated ordinance.

Kalbfleisch pointed out that the mayor had no authority to veto the measure.

Commenting on council's responsibilities in the matter, Kalbfleisch wrote: "Where the appropriations are insufficient to meet the regular or increased salaries, it would be necessary for council to supplement the appropriations.

"Or in the event that funds are not available or are insufficient, the council may amend or repeal the initiated ordinance and substitute an ordinance of their own in its place."

ASKS NEW RULING

After ordering the new payroll drawn up, Garrison requested Kalbfleisch to draw up another legal opinion on the question whether the sections of the new ordinance providing for an additional $2.50 a month for each five years of service is legal.

It is believed that if that portion of the bill is found to be illegal, it will not affect the remainder of the measure.

Council must now convene before the end of the month to appropriate additional funds to pay the new salaries. Enough money is available for the Dec. 15 payroll, but there is not enough for the year's last payroll.

The funds are in the treasury and council need only transfer the money from the general fund to the salary fund.

What council will do next year is still a matter of conjecture. The salary committee is known to be drawing up a new salary ordinance which will grant increases to all city employes.

Whether the bill will include a downward revision of the police and firemen's salary has not been disclosed.

Mercury Down Again

Ohio's "jumpy" temperature today was due to get down to normal for December and had already dropped from yesterday's high of 54 degrees at 5:30 p. m. to 32 at 8 a. m.

It rose slightly by noon, reaching the 39 mark. However, the weatherman said lower temperatures were on the way for tonight and that snow flurries would fall along the Lake Erie shoreline.

Yesterday was unusually warm and temperatures in some sections went above the 60-mark. The sharp rise in temperature brought on heavy fog yesterday over most of Ohio.

Tomorrow's forecast is for colder weather with some rain or snow probable.

The five-day extended weather forecast follows:

Temperatures will average near normal in northwest portion and about three degrees above normal in southeast portion. Cold Wednesday; warmer Thursday; colder Friday and Saturday. Rain or snow likely late Wednesday or Thursday and again about Saturday. Total precipitation about one-half inch.

CAPTAIN SUCCUMBS

CLEVELAND — (AP) — Capt. William F. Meister, superintendent of construction for the Pittsburgh Steamship company, died yesterday following a brief illness. He was 61.

PILOT DIED HERE—Crumpled wreckage of a two-seater Cessna plane in which John Joseph Navratil, 36-year-old Wellington farm implement dealer, met death early yesterday, is shown in the wheat field on the William S. Ferguson farm, three miles northwest of Johnsville. Trees, almost blocked out by dense fog, are shown back of investigating state patrolmen, called to the scene of the crash by Ferguson. It was believed Navratil attempted an emergency landing on the field when he became lost in the fog.

CAA Probes Air Crash

Pilot Said To Have Contacted Port Here

The Civil Aeronautics administration today began an investigation of the plane crash near Johnsville yesterday that resulted in the death of John J. Navratil, of Wellington, the pilot.

The CAA office at the Mansfield Municipal airport said it is "positively forbidden to release any information concerning the crash until the CAA board has completed its investigation and renders a decision as to the cause."

It was reported, but unsubstantiated, that Mr. Navratil contacted the Mansfield airport by radio before he crashed but was told that fog made a landing here impossible.

It was believed that he circled the Johnsville area before he crashed in the heavy fog on the W. S. Ferguson farm. He was flying a privately-owned two seater Cessna.

The body was removed from the plane by Ferguson and his son, assisted by the state highway patrol. A tractor drawn sled was used to take the body to the farm house a quarter of a mile away.

The muddy condition of the field and a small stream running through it made that type transportation necessary. The body was removed to the Longacre funeral home in Medina, his former home.

In addition to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. James Navratil, of Medina, he is survived by his wife Ruth, two children, Nancy Ann, 4½, and John Robert, 2; five sisters and two brothers. Funeral arrangements are incomplete.

Hitch-Hiker Hails Wrong Man For Ride

WAYNESBURG, Pa. — (AP) — Joseph Orban, 23-year-old coal miner, left his home in Bobtown, Pa., with $1,700, last night to hitchhike to nearby Carmichaels to buy his girl a new car for Christmas.

A half mile from his home, Orban told police later, he was given a ride. The young coal miner said he told the motorist of the surprise he was planning for his girl and of the money he was carrying.

"I must have turned or something," Orban said, "the first thing I knew I found myself on the road, reeling around. I had been shot."

His $1,700 was gone.

Another motorist found Orban and took him to a hospital where doctors said he was in fair condition after receiving treatment for a bullet under the right arm.

Brighten A Christmas

Vet's Family Needs Clothing, Tiny Tree

Three years ago a Mansfield father returned to his home following his discharge from a U. S. Army hospital where he was confined for injuries received in combat. Hospital officials released him without removing pieces of shrapnel from his legs, which they assured him would cause no further trouble.

Within the past few weeks he has been suffering from painful skin infections on his legs, which his doctor has diagnosed as resulting from the imbedded shrapnel. Very soon he plans to enter a nearby veterans hospital for treatment.

Meanwhile, however, he has been unable to work steadily at the local trucking company where he is employed. His youngest daughter, now eighteen months old, also has been ill with pneumonia.

There are three school-age children, a boy ten years old, a girl nine, and another girl 7. Each of these children needs warm clothing, as do the two youngest girls, five and eighteen months old. A Christmas tree would delight the children, but it would have to be a small one which could be placed on a table, as their house, which they built themselves, has only two rooms.

A Christmas basket, containing all the items for a festive dinner, candy, fruit and nuts and toys, also would assure the children that Santa Clause hasn't forgotten them.

If you would like to help this deserving family call Mrs. Margaret Mattox at the News-Journal office, 4251-6, daily except Sundays between 10 a. m. and 4 p. m.

Shots Break Windows

Mansfield police today pushed a search for vandals who have damaged plate glass windows in at least 24 business places with B-B pellets during the past two nights. Damage is expected to total several thousand dollars.

Some of the large windows were broken, others were punctured, and some were chipped by the lead pellets. Police believe the vandals used B-B guns or a caliber rifle and fired the shots from a car.

Included in the complaints were 12 places on East and West Fourth street, four establishments on Park avenue east, three on North Main street, one on North Park street, three on Lexington avenue, and one on North Mulberry street.

Stores and business places reporting attacks included: Brunswick hotel, Isaly Dairy store, Fourth and Mulberry streets, two holes in the Mulberry street window and one in the Fourth street window; Batson furniture store, Stuhldreher flower store, Montgomery Ward farm store, 42 West Fourth street; Mansfield News-Journal

Pennsylvania Rubber and Supply tore, 110 N. Mulberry street; Topsy's Coney Island, 12 West Fourth street: Ross Rug company, 17 East Fourth street; Hout cleaners, 83 West Fourth street; Bing's furniture store, 37 West Fourth street; Greystone night club, Dailey bar, 37 East Fourth street; Key shop, 73 Park avenue east; Brandenburg Chevrolet company, 140 Park avenue east.

Reindl Spring and Alignment service, 191 North Franklin avenue; H. L. Reed company, Kobacker's, F. W. Woolworth company, Grant's department store, Schonauer Motor sales, 113 West Fourth street; Fort's auto store, 118 Park avenue east; Newlon Lexington avenue market, 131 Lexington avenue; Paul's Friendly store, 204 Lexington avenue and the Cities Service station on Lexington avenue.

Rescue Attempt Fails, Two Die

YOUNGSTOWN —(AP) — Section foreman Michael Ruddy died a hero's death yesterday—crushed by a freight locomotive on the Pittsburgh and Lake Erie railroad tracks where he labored 35 years.

Ruddy, 66, of Lowellville, tried to push Pete Bavansky, 60, of New Castle, Pa., out of the path of a fast westbound freight train near Lowellville, five miles south of here. Both men were killed.

EX-CONTROLLER DIES

COLUMBUS — (AP) — Robert W. Tuck, 73, of Columbus, former controller of the Brown-Graves company at Akron, died in a hospital here yesterday following a long illness.

Note Says Dice Rob Children

Complaint Hits Crap Games

Police Chief Jesse Schwab today is being invited to investigate the complaint of a mother of four children that her husband has been losing a part of the family's needed income in the city's wide-open crap games.

The complaint came to The News-Journal in the form of a letter which has been forwarded to Chief Schwab.

The letter was not signed and ordinarily The News-Journal pays no attention to anonymous communications. In this case, however, the reason the woman could not reveal her name appeared obvious and the letter seems to contain information of public interest.

The writer said:

"I always agree with your views on the gambling situation in Mansfield. Why don't you write a nice story on crap games? My husband lost a nice chunk a few nights ago.

"Of course, the children (four of them) are willing to do without clothes they need badly, and less for Christmas, to help crap owners' wives to wear fur coats.

"It's too bad that they can't close these guys up for keeps. This isn't the first time we've been hungry. . . .

(Signed)

A DISGUSTED WIFE."

Last February, Chief Schwab closed down all forms of gambling in Mansfield. The ban remained in effect about two months.

Gradually punch boards, poker sheets and other forms of petty gaming reappeared. Recent surveys have indicated that the city is wide open with the customary bookie joint, crap games, poker games, and the numbers racket running full tilt—without police interference and with a strictly "hands off" attitude by Mayor Roy W. Vaughn.

Public Chest Meeting Set

Plans for the first annual meeting of the Mansfield Community Chest to which the general public will be invited, were set up last night at a meeting of the chest's executive committee.

The meeting will be held Jan. 24 at the Park Avenue Baptist church. A dinner, to which the public may purchase tickets, will precede the annual election of officers, trustees and the executive committee.

W. E. Slabaugh jr., president of the chest, said that George H. Smith was named chairman of a nominating committee for the annual meeting. Assisting him will be Stanleigh Vinson and W. F. McCartney. Forty trustees will be elected at the meeting with each of the 11 participating agencies naming one representative on the board.

Also slated for discussion at the annual meeting will be a proposed constitution change, setting up the executive committee of the chest as a revolving body. Through this change, it would be mandatory for the committee to have three new members each year, thereby giving the group one-third "new blood."

Tears Gush As Trimmers Work on Tree

YOUNGSTOWN — (AP) — Everybody had a good cry just after custodians at the Mahoning county courthouse finished erecting a huge Christmas tree in the courthouse lobby.

A representative of a tear gas firm, doing some checking, set off a cartridge accidentally in the sales tax office and the gas gushed out into the lobby.

There wasn't a dry eye in the crowd.

Spy Hunt, Jury Probe Near Climax

Clash Between Groups Looms

WASHINGTON —(INS)— A new "mystery witness" whose testimony may prove vital in the communist spy investigation was due to go before the House un-American Activities committee today.

Acting Chairman Mundt (R-S.D.) declined to give any hint as to the identity of the witness but declared tersely that the testimony might or might not prove important.

Meanwhile, the House spy hunters debated whether to urge key witnesses in the tangled case to submit to lie detector tests in the hope that this would clear up some of the highly contradictory stories told in the astonishing case.

As the committee drove toward the climax of its investigation a head-on clash between House spy probers and a New York federal grand jury also probing Soviet espionage loomed as a distinct possibility.

Mundt declared that if the grand jury does not act by tomorrow midnight he will urge his group to exercise its prerogatives.

Mundt said he would recommend, in that event, that the committee compel the key witnesses who have been testifying before the grand jury to appear in Washington. He referred specifically to Whittaker Chambers, ex-communist agent, and Alger Hiss, ex-state department official accused by Chambers of furnishing him with secret documents for Russia. Hiss has denied the charge.

Mundt pointed out that the federal grand jury has been in existence for 18 months and will expire legally tomorrow midnight.

Mundt said the committee never anticipated that the grand jury would hold Chambers, Hiss, and other key witnesses "for two weeks" and prevent them from testifying before the House group.

The congressman declared that the congressional subpenas which have been served on Hiss and Chambers are just as binding on the witnesses as the summons from the grand jury.

Under discussion was a proposal that Hiss, his brother Donald, and Chambers, among others, be asked to submit to lie detector tests.

Would Revise Election Law

COLUMBUS —(AP)— The man who claims he is dean of U. S. electors says the electoral college should be revised to reflect the popular vote for president — or abandoned.

Alfred M. Cohen, 89-year-old Cincinnati attorney, made the statement yesterday as he and 24 other Democrats made official what everyone has known since Nov. 3—that President Truman defeated Gov. Thomas E. Dewey in Ohio.

The electors cast 25 votes for Mr. Truman for president and 25 votes for Sen. Alben W. Barkley as vice president. The session cost the state $514.10 ($10 apiece for the electors and 10 cents a mile for the distance from their homes to Columbus).

Saved From Chair

FORT WAYNE, Ind. — (AP) — Ralph W. Lobaugh, a Kokomo, Ind., gravedigger who confessed the rape slayings of three Fort Wayne women, today had until May 26 to prove he was under the influence of drugs when he pleaded guilty. Lobaugh was granted his fifth stay of execution yesterday.

Chiang Rumored Quitting

Students Flee Artillery Fire

NANKING —(INS)— The first organized communist attempt to cross the mighty Yangtze river and outflank Nanking was reported today while other Red forces struck within 40 miles north of the capital.

In north China, meanwhile, communist shells began falling on the western fringes of Peiping as that ancient metropolis faced a possibly imminent siege.

President Chiang Kai-shek's government was confronted with what appeared to be a rapidly approaching climax in China's civil war.

(Reuters reported in London that rumors Chiang was resigned are sweeping Chinese business circles in the south China British colony of Hong Kong, with Vice President Li Tsung-Jen reportedly slated to assume the presidency.)

The initial communist effort to cross from the north to the south bank of the broad lower Yangtze was reported to have been made last night near Hsinkang, 100 miles east of Nanking.

More than ten junks filled with Red troops tried to ferry across under cover of darkness for the apparent purpose of establishing a bridgehead on the south bank near Kiangyin, which lies opposite Hsinkang.

Nationalist sources said government naval craft repulsed the attempt, sinking more than half the communist junks.

STUDENTS FLEE

Dispatches from the north China front related, meanwhile, that students of the National university in Peiping's western suburb of Tsinghua rushed into the walled city as communist shells started falling on the university's campus.

The situation inside Peiping was described as "tense," with communist columns already within reach of the city's western airfield which has been abandoned.

On the east central China front, communist forces have crossed Nanking's northern Hwai river defense line east of the Pengpu-Pukow railroad which has been broken temporarily by the Reds at points within 40 miles of the capital.

To the northwest of Pengpu, the communists appeared to be grinding down two large government forces trapped within Red circles in a violent struggle involving at least 650,000 troops on both sides.

Permanent communist severance of the rail lifeline from Pukow to Pengpu would virtually complete the encirclement of all 350,000 Nationalist troops north of Nanking's Yangtze barrier. Nanking is on the Yangtze's south bank, opposite Pukow.

ECA Allots Final Funds

WASHINGTON — (INS) — The last of the five billion dollars available for European recovery was allocated today and an ECA official said the money would keep the agency operating until Jan. 31.

ECA approved allocations totaling $535,600,000 for the first three months of 1949, but John Hulley, ECA special assistant, said the money will be exhausted by the end of January.

The new funds bring total ECA allotments to $4,900,200,000 including loans. Hulley said the remaining $99,800,000 of the original five billions will be used for administrative expenses, the ECA guaranty program and strategic materials projects.

Hulley said: "We expect to stop issuing buying authorizations to the Marshall plan countries on Jan. 31. After that date and until the first of April we will not issue authorizations except, perhaps, amendments or corrections to previous announcements."

Carols Will Ring

400 Young Voices to Blanket City With Song

At least 400 fervent, young voices will blanket the city with song next Sunday night when the second annual carol-sing gets under way at 9 p. m.

Sponsored by members of the 1949 graduating class at Senior high school, young people's groups of the city will lead Mansfielders in singing praise to the birth of the Christ child.

Starting at 14 different intersections of city streets, the hundreds of young carolers will march, singing, to Central park there to join 31 senior and 38 junior choir members and the thousands of Mansfielders expected to crowd into the park, for a half hour of hymns.

The program will follow closely the tradition started by last year's senior class with one exception. This year there will be bleachers erected at a convenient spot in Central park where the young choristers will lead in song with Dick Butts directing.

Dick VanVoorhis, Senior high student who is chairman of the project, said today that 1,500 carol song books have again been donated by the John Hancock insurance company through the help of John Roby. These will be distributed to the carol singers and to the thousands who go to Central park.

So far, VanVoorhis said, about 14 groups have designated their willingness to cooperate in making this sing a successful duplicate of last year. Should any group of young people in the city not have been contacted, VanVoorhis requests that they call him at 4876-3 and he will add them to the list and assign them a place in the singing parade.

Carolers will begin their march from the following intersections: East First and Oak streets; South Diamond and Rembrandt streets; Hammond and Mansfield avenues; Bowland road and Wood street; Davis road and West Townview circle; Cline and Marion avenues; Glessner and Bartley avenues; Marlow road and Ausdale avenue; Park avenue west and Ausdale avenue; Ludwig avenue and West Fourth street; West Sixth street and Rae avenue; Harker and Springmill streets; Vine street and VanBuren; Fifth avenue and Grace street.

HOROSCOPE

For Wednesday, December 15

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

THE auguries point to the advent of a tenacious and stubborn situation, possibly with blocks, delays or other obstacles or frustrations, yet there is nothing that could not be untangled or remedied by a clever coup or well-planned strategem. Subtle or undercover agreements or maneuvers could solve a difficult or static state of affairs. For advanced goals, use determination and shrewd tactics, perhaps aided by judicious intrigue or subtlety.

If It Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is may find it discreet and effective to resort to finesse, tact or diplomacy should a stubborn obstacle, a serious delay, or strained relations, come up for consideration. A static or congested state of affairs might yield to carefully executed plans, with a clever show of strategy, compromise, or a gracious attitude rather than blatant force or dogged determination. Meet thwarted ambitions with discernment and fine ideals to build good will and assistance for lasting results and security.

A child born on this day may be able to meet difficulties or limitations by its philosophic and diplomatic conduct, winning friends by tact and compromise.

Spartans Placed on '53 Skeds

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN

CHICAGO — (AP) — Western conference officials ended a highly-successful winter meeting last night by mapping football schedules from 1950 through 1952 and entering Michigan State into championship grid competition in 1953.

Michigan State, accepted as a 10th member earlier, will be permitted to seek league titles in all other sports as soon as it is certified. A three-man committee is to investigate the Spartans' athletic structure to assure conformity with Big Nine policies.

This mere formality may be completed in time for the East Lansing school to be listed in all future schedules made up in the conference's 1949 meeting.

NOTHING 2 YEARS

Michigan State was scheduled in football by Minnesota in 1950 and tentatively by Michigan. The Spartans are not listed for any league team in 1951 and 1952 but ample room has been left for inserting them. There are 13 open dates in 1950, 18 in 1951 and 20 the following year. Michigan State will meet Michigan in 1949. Next season's schedule was drawn up a year ago.

Perhaps significantly, powerful Notre Dame so far remains off all western conference grid schedules in 1951 and 1952, although there still is plenty of room and time for the Irish to be added later. The apparent gradual shunning of the South Bend gridiron giant is noted in 1950 when Purdue and Iowa are its only conference foes in a committed series while Indiana is a tentative opponent. The Northwestern-Notre Dame rivalry, which started in 1889, temporarily ended with the 1948 game.

SPIKE RUMORS

Unconfirmed rumors that the bi-conference Rose Bowl pact which has two years to run was near the breaking point were spiked as officials announced a mutually agreed practice plan for future New Year's Day games in Pasadena.

The faculty committee amended the new code to delete the limit of $300 for scholarships given to an athlete on the basis of his merit. Facultymen said this limitation discriminated against athletes as there are several scholarships awarded by member schools worth more than $300. Under the former restriction, a qualified athlete could not accept the full amount.

Academic requirements for scholarships granted on basis of merit or need were not changed

Amateur Meet Dates Are Set

The Ohio amateur golf championship will be decided over Westbrook Country club course here July 11-16, tournament chairman Dale Rose announced today.

Harold Paddock, Cleveland, winner last year in a play-off with Maurice McCarthy of Cincinnati, will be on hand to defend the title

Only players with handicaps of six or less will be eligible for the event, which gets under way with a two-day, 36-hole qualifier and follows with match play for the top 63 and defending champion paddock.

No Confirmation

MILWAUKEE — (AP) — Mickey Heath, father of Stan Heath, the University of Nevada's star passer, said today he could not confirm that his son will play professional football with the Green Bay Packers.

Lexington, Columbian 5's Invaders

The first double-barrelled high school basketball program of the season will be served to Mansfield fans tonight. Both Senior high and Madison have home games scheduled and each has at least an even chance of keeping its undefeated season intact.

Madison has the toughest row to hoe, meeting the high-scoring Lexington quintet, while Senior high should have little trouble with Tiffin Columbian.

CAPACITY CROWDS

Both games are expected to attract capacity crowds and Madison's will undoubtedly overflow. Doors will open at 6:30 p. m. at the Ram school and seats will likely be filled long before the reserve game gets under way at 7:30 p. m.

The third straight uphill fight is in prospect for the Rams. Lexington is Class B but appears to be the cream of the Richland county crop and has beaten seven schools while losing only to its alumni.

Madison was figured in pre-season dope to have only a so-so team, but has staggered through two upset victories in its only games. By virtue of having played only two games while Lexington has played eight, they will probably be slight underdogs again tonight.

The Minutemen were beaten 57-36 and 54-26 by Madison's district champions last year, and are anxious for revenge.

At Senior high Coach Vern Hoffman's Tygers will also be after victory number three against a team which it beat handily last year, 49-32.

Nich Gagich set the all-time school record in that contest as he scored 34 points. Norb Shibinski and Paul Ferguson of this year's team scored four and six, respectively.

LINEUP UNCERTAIN

Hoffman was still undecided this morning about his starting lineup. Shibinski is a sure bet for center, and Paul Ferguson and Jim Anderson for guard and forward, but the other two guard and forward slots are shared by two men each.

Howie Tipper has been challenging A. C. Jenkins hard for the guard spot and fans would not be surprised to see the fighting sophomore get the call. The forward spot lies between speedy Willie Fowler and big Don Schmitt, who scored 13 points against Cleveland Collinwood last Friday.

Reserve teams of the two schools will get the program under way at 7 p. m. Eddie Finnegan of Baldwin-Wallace and John Mickley of Mt. Vernon will officiate.

Lippy Leo's Not a Meany

CHICAGO — (AP) — Baseball Commissioner A. B. Chandler today described Leo Durocher as "not a man who is deliberately mean, but rather impulsive."

In that way, the commissioner gave a strong hint that today's hearing on the famed "Freddy Fitzsimmons tampering case," will result in leniency toward Leo, in contrast to suspicion in some quarters that Chandler is "gunning" for the Giant manager.

Gene Bearden Rated Tops As American Loop Pitcher

CHICAGO—(AP)—Lanky Gene Bearden of the world champion Cleveland Indians was certified today as the 1948 American league pitching king.

The 28-year-old lefty posted an official earned run average of 2.43 to top the circuit and help the Tribe take team pitching honors to go with its team batting title of .282. The Indians had a club earned run mark of 3.23 followed by New York with 3.75, Detroit 4.15, Boston 4.26, Philadelphia 4.42, Washington 4.66, Chicago 4.89 and St. Louis 5.01.

Bearden was one of three 20-game winners, finishing second in the won-lost percentage among hurlers in 10 or more complete games. His record was 20-7 for .741. Bearden, appearing in 37 contests, nailed his 20th victory in the unprecedented playoff with Boston for the league flag. His percentage was second to the top .783 booked by Boston's Jack Kramer with 18-5.

NEWHOUSER LEADS

Detroit's veteran Hal Newhouser was the league's biggest winner with 21. He lost 12 for a .636 rating and ranked third on the pitching list with an ERA of 3.01.

The other 20-game winner was Bearden's Cleveland teammate, Bob Lemon. He compiled a 20-14 mark for .588 and was second in earned runs with 2.82.

Fourth in the ERA rankings was Boston's Mel Parnell (15-8) with 3.14. He was followed by Dizzy Trout of Detroit (10-14) with 3.42; Joe Dobson of Boston (16-10) with 3.56; Bob Feller, Cleveland, (19-15) with 3.57; and Ed Lopat, New York, (17-11) with 3.65.

Bearden worked 15 complete games, being one of 11 hurlers to reach or better that total. He toiled 230 innings, allowed 187 hits, 72 runs—of which 62 were earned—walked 106 and fanned 80. Lemon topped the league in completed games with 20, had the most shutouts, 10, and twirled the only no-hitter with a 2-0 shutout of Detroit.

FELLER WHIFFS 164

Feller whiffed 164 batters again to lead the circuit. Lemon was second with 147.

Joe Page of New York appeared in the most games, 55, posting a 7-8 record. Lemon pitched the most innings, 294, and Feller gave up the most hits, 255. Bill Wight, rookie Chicago White Sox, walked the most batters, 135, just four more than Philadelphia's Phil Marchildon.

John Simpson Drops Game to Shelby, 44-38

SHELBY—John Simpson junior high's hopes for an undefeated basketball season were smashed by a fourth quarter rally by the Shelby reserves here yesterday. Shelby won 44-38 after Simpson had tied the count at 34-34 at the end of the third period.

Blosser of Shelby practically beat Simpson single-handed as dropped in 23 points. Stan Schneider led Simpson with ten points, while Milligan had nine.

The Simpson reserves also lost, being defeated by the Shelby ninth graders 24-19. It was the first loss for both the Simpson teams. They have one victory each.

Hardware Quintet Wins Feature Tilt

The long list of league leaders in the City A loop was reduced to three last night as Martin Hardware blasted Yuncker Sports, 45-25, in the feature game at John Simpson junior high.

Martin now has three victories against one defeat as does Urschel Insurance, which edged Richland Beverage, 41-38, and Rogers Jewelry, which carved out a 33-31 win over Komito's. Ohio Sport Center, idle last night, has two wins and one loss.

Dick Flockenzier dropped in 19 points to lead Urschel Insurance to a fourth-quarter rally needed to win. Urschel's trailed, 32-26, at the end of the third period, but came back to outscore their rivals 15 to 6 in the last period. Dick Roberts also had 19 for Beverage.

Ed Chatlain of Martin Hardware and Dick Casad of Rogers Jewelry were runnersup for scoring honors with 14 points.

Games Thursday will pair Rogers Jewelry against Penn Auto in the opening game at 7 p. m. Komito's will meet Urschel at 8 and Yuncker's will tangle with Ohio Sport Center at 9 p. m.

Resume Struggle

Cleveland's Barons resume their struggle to stay out of the American Hockey league's western division basement tomorrow evening at Pittsburgh.

Otto Graham Named Best In Pro Loop

NEW YORK—(UP)—Two players who started their careers as single wingback halfbacks, only to blossom out as T-formation stars, today were named the All-America conference's best by United Press football writers.

Otto Graham of the Cleveland Browns was selected the league's most valuable player.

Y. A. Tittle of the Baltimore Colts was named the rookie of the year.

Graham is the coil which has sprung the relentless Brownies to three straight western division championships, and who now is poised to give them their third conference title. Tittle is the principal difference between Baltimore's last-place eastern division finish in 1947 and a tie for first place in 1948.

Graham, who did his college footballing at Northwestern, was a single wing man until he played for North Carolina Pre-Flight during the war.

Drawling 21-year-old Tittle, from Marshall, Tex., was a single wing tailback his first year at Louisiana State.

Then LSU switched to the T, and Tittle became a passing quarterback.

In his first regular season game, Tittle broke four AAC records.

Indians Get Vernon and Wynn

CHICAGO —(AP)— In a surprising non-cash transaction, the world champion Cleveland Indians today acquired first baseman Mickey Vernon and Pitcher Early Wynn from the Washington Senators for First Baseman Eddie Robinson and Pitchers Ed Kheman and Joe Haynes.

The prize acquisition in the deal appeared to be the hard-throwing Wynn, a strapping right-hander who had been sought by various American league teams for the past two seasons.

Vernon, the 1947 American league batting champion, dropped off considerably at the plate last season although he still is considered a respectable hitter.

Robinson and Kheman played regularly with the Indians during the past season, while Haynes a veteran right-hander, was acquired in an off-season deal with the Chicago White Sox.

Robinson hit .252, drove in 83 runs, and hit 16 homers for Cleveland.

Kheman, who is almost entirely a relief hurler, had a spectacular earned run average of 2.59, the third best in the league, which was topped only by Gene Bearden and Satchell Paige, both Cleveland teammates.

Meanwhile, the New York Yankees began their much-discussed rebuilding campaign today with the purchase of a pitcher who lost 21 games last season and a catcher with a .203 batting average.

For those two players, right-handed hurler Fred Sanford, and catcher Roy Partee, they gave the money-hungry St. Louis Browns $100,000 in cash and three players pitchers Charley (Red) Embree and Dick Starr and third string catcher Sherman Lollar.

In addition the Yankees finally completed a deal they had been talking about since early last week, a straight player trade in which they sent first baseman Steve Souchock to the Chicago White Sox for outfielder Jimmy Delsing and another player to be named later. Both of the players received from the White Sox will go to minor league farm clubs, as will Partee.

In another transaction, the New York Giants sold pitcher Ken Trinkle, one-time head man of their relief corps to the Philadelphia Phillies.

★

The Philadelphia Athletics signed veteran outfielder Wally Moses, recently made a free agent by the Boston Red Sox, as a pinchhitter. The A's also signed Jimmy Dykes, former Athletic star and manager of the Chicago White Sox, as a coach.

Loot Stolen By Germans Goes Home

U. S. Leads Restitution

BERLIN, — (AP) — Probably the biggest "lost and found" department in history is hoping to close out its major operations by the end of this year in the American occupation zone of Germany.

This is the great restitutions program which for the last three years has been restoring property looted by the Nazis to claimants in former German occupied countries.

In the American zone especially it has been a tremendous operation, handling items ranging in value from art masterpieces to Caucasian sheep and in size from locomotives to sewing machine needles.

Although the dismantling of German factories for reparations has claimed the big headlines, actually the quietly conducted restitutions have involved more monetary value.

During September 1,402 items of restituted property were shipped out of the U. S. zone to claimant countries. These included industrial machinery and machinery parts and tools, raw and refined materials, various types of vehicles, electrical equipment and jewelry.

Even wines and tobaccos have been identified and claimed by restitutions missions of former occupied countries and shipped back to former owners.

Huge collection points were set up to gather art masterpieces and statuary taken by such expert looters as the late war criminals Hermann Goering and Alfred Rosenberg. A myriad other items have been collected, pored over, catalogued and claimed.

France, Holland and Belgium have received huge shipments of looted art. Russia has claimed large collections of books which the Nazis took from Soviet libraries.

The United States has been by far the biggest and busiest restitutor among the four occupying powers. The British also have done considerable. The French have been big claimants of property taken from them.

The Russians seem to have done little, if any, restituting to any but themselves. American authorities say the Russians may have made "some restorations" to the Poles or other Soviet satellite countries. However, the former non-communist government of Czechoslovakia officially complained that it could not obtain from the Russians Czech property known to be in Eastern Germany.

3—In Memoriam

IN MEMORIAM of Warrick Powers, who died Dec. 14th, 1946.

When evening shades are falling
And we sit in quiet, alone.
To our hearts there comes a longing
If he only could come home.
Friends may think we have forgotten
When at times they see us smile.
But they little know the heartache
That are hid behind the smiles.

Wife Myrtle Powers and Children.

HERE is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

Lions Club Plays Santa For City's Blind Persons

A plan that has been in the making for the past several weeks will come to a happy climax on Christmas day when 14 of Mansfield's blind persons are given gifts from members of the Lions club here.

The plan will include a Christmas dinner in the Salvation Army Citadel and following dinner presentation of the gifts by Santa Claus.

Major William J. Jones of the Salvation Army, has been acting as liaison officer between the Lions club and the blind people. Major Jones was asked by Lions club president, James Miller, to determine what the blind people would like for Christmas.

Their choice of gifts includes: Woolen sweaters, men's felt hats, wool dress, Braille watch or radio, portable radio or a job, record player, white dress shirt, long underwear, dress for street wear, blankets, sheets and pillow cases.

With that list the special committee appointed for the project, headed by Peter Mayer and Vaughn Davis, has been busy shopping for the past week. They have now completed the list and the gifts are being delivered to the Salvation Army post, ready for Christmas distribution.

Wooster Station Plans Open House

WOOSTER — (AP) — Do large or small-type anamals make the fastest gains and produce the cheapest meat? Ohio beef cattlemen may get the answer to that all-important cattle-feeding problem before long.

Friday, they'll get an opportunity to preview a new experiment aimed at deciding the question. They have been invited to an "open house" at the Ohio agricultural experiment station here.

Bucyrus Completes Youth Organization

BUCYRUS—Completion of the organization of a Bucyrus Youth for Christ council was announced here today by Rev. James H. Thomas, pastor of First Baptist church here and advisor of the group.

Miss Joanne Beal and Miss Marjorie Yaussy have been named co-chairmen of the group. Miss Marilyn Hughes was elected corresponding secretary; Donald Lowmiller, recording secretary, and Gerald Harrer, treasurer. Advisors are Rev. Thomas, Reuben Leuthold and James Oberlander.

Tentative plans were made for the January rally, which will be held in Epworth Methodist church here.

Store Holds Men's Night

The "Men Only" sign will be up on the doors at the M. O'Neil company Wednesday night as the store holds its second annual evening sale for men shoppers.

Last year between 800 and 1,000 men took advantage of the unexpected privilege of being able to shop without having the wife or girl friend along.

In addition to having the store all to themselves, the men will be treated to a fashion show with pretty models displaying all the new wrinkles in holiday garments. There will be music by carolers from Senior high school on each of the three floors. Refreshments will be served.

"Men's Night" will start at 6:30 p.m. and continue to 9 p.m. Special counter displays and suggestions will be offered to help fill Christmas shopping lists.

Pastor to Tell Christmas Story

Rev. Matthew G. Madden, pastor of the First Congregational church, will tell the "Christmas Story" at the regular meeting of the Johnny Appleseed P-TA Thursday at 7:45 p. m.

The meeting will be held in the school auditorium. Members of the ninth grade girls' glee club will sing carols.

BAN COMIC BOOKS

CANTON — (AP) — City council has placed a ban on 42 comic magazines which it has termed obscene or criminal literature.

Two Youths Bound Over In Thefts

Arrests Clear Other Crimes

Two Mansfield youths pleaded guilty in municipal court today to breaking into the J. and E. Canfield Service station, 280 Central avenue Sunday and stealing $12 in nickels from a pinball machine.

Herbert Yates, 20, of Fairfax avenue and Claude Rose, 19, of Nova were bound over to the grand jury under $2,000 bond.

Detectives said the arrest of Yates and Rose clears up a number of other crimes in the city. They said the pair admitted to the theft of more than $200 worth of goods from the Possum Run golf course last Tuesday and Wednesday.

They also announced a 16-year-old Ninth avenue youth is being held for juvenile authorities in connection with the second burglary at Possum Run.

Listed by detectives as recovered loot taken from the golf course include $153 worth of golf balls, an electric toaster, an electric heater, a radio, golf bag straps, golf bags, and shag bags.

The police revealed the pair also admitted to an attempted burglary of a filling station at Park avenue east and Bentley street and to siphoning gas from parked cars on the Westinghouse parking lot on three different occasions.

First Methodist Church Ransacked

An intruder who hid in the First Methodist church, 9 North Diamond street, last night, ransacked the office after breaking down the door, but apparently didn't get anything for his trouble, police reported today.

Herman Harper, custodian, reported the attempted theft. Police investigation showed that no forcible entry was made and officers reasoned that the would-be thief hid in the church undercroft when it was closed after a Boy Scout meeting last night.

Envoys Chosen

Two members were chosen last night to represent the Senior Hi-Y at a meeting in January of the Richland County Christian Youth council. The two are Richard VanVoorhis and Robert Perez.

GRAND CHAMP STEER AND OWNER—At the Great Western Livestock show in Los Angeles, Dick McDougal of Bird's Landing, Cal., poses with his 18-months-old steer, "Bill", after the animal had been selected as Grand Champion Steer. "Bill" is a massive 1,105 pounds of solid beef. (International Soundphoto)

Mansfielders Buying Stamps, But Holiday Mail Still Lags

Acting Postmaster Curtis L Ford produced figures today to show that a big pre-Christmas mailing rush is in the offing.

As proof that mailing is lagging behind last year, he said cancellations yesterday at the post office totaled 76,500 as compared with 100,400 on the corresponding Monday last year.

The stamp business yesterday was up, however. The post office sold 190,000 as compared with 140,000 on the corresponding day last year. Postal receipts for the day were $5,975 as compared with $3,558 on that day in 1947

"These figures show people are just buying their stamps in preparation for mailing," Ford said. "Apparently some winter weather is needed to get the mailing started."

He said the fact that Christmas falls on Saturday this year leads many persons to believe that they have plenty of time next week to do their mailing.

He warned, however, that with a big mailing jam certain to come, there can be no assurance that gifts and cards mailed next week to points outside the city will reach their destination

The envelope of atmosphere over the earth weighs about 5½ million billion tons.

Fugitive Returning

A 28-year-old Mansfield reformatory fugitive who escaped the institution farm almost 10 years ago, was headed back to serve out his term today.

Daniel Wasielewski, who escaped on March 6, 1939, has been held in the Luzerne county jail at Wilkes-Barre, Pa., since June when he was arrested in connection with the robbery of a wholesale house. OSR officials said Wasielewski refused to waive extradition and had to be extradited back to the reformatory.

Luzerne county officials said charges against the fugitive would be held in abeyance and consented to his return to Ohio.

Wasielewski was received on Feb. 24, 1938 from Lucas county to serve one to 20 years for auto theft.

Stock Market Takes Second Drop In Row, Trading Slow

NEW YORK—(AP)—The stock market slowly rolled downhill today.

Losses ranged from fractions to almost 2 points. Many issues which had managed to cling to small gains during the first hour or two of business eventually moved into the minus column.

Turnover slowed after a fairly rapid start and showed no sign of accelerating on the decline.

Tax selling continued to keep the market supplied with stocks In addition many traders cashed in on the profits built up during the mild rise of the preceding two weeks.

Among the losers were U. S. Steel, Bethlehem Steel, Santa Fe. American Telephone, Chrysler. Studebaker. Goodyear. Sears Roebuck, Douglas Aircraft. Schenley Anaconda Copper and General Electric.

UNIONS MAP TACTICS

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The AFL and CIO called separate strategy meetings today with two immediate goals: repeal of the Taft-Hartley act and a bigger political role for organized labor

Public Chest Meeting Set

Jane Williams, executive secretary of the chest, added that the constitution change would stipulate that no one person may serve more than three consecutive years on the executive board.

Other business of last night's meeting was the approval and signing of a new contract with General hospital at an increased daily rate. Desmond Walker, chairman of the committee, submitted the report.

The old rate at the hospital of $7.61 per day, all inclusive with the exception of rare drugs and oxygen, has been upped to $10.77 a day, including the rare drugs and oxygen. Mrs. Williams said the drugs and oxygen amounted to $1,000 the past year.

She cited rates paid by chests in other Ohio cities, including Canton, $13 a day; Dayton, $12 a day, and Akron, $10.77 a day, the same as Mansfield's new rate.

Mrs. Williams said the contract rates between the Community Chest and hospital were based on rates set up by the Industrial Commission of Ohio for each hospital cooperating.

She added that the hospital budget, computed on the old rates, will very likely be increased "a lot" because of the new set up.

Israeli Authorities Rush Immigration of Jewish DP's

'Back Home' Movement Gains Force

Shapiro Raps Persecution

TEL AVIV — (INS) — Israeli officials said today that the problem of 800,000 "hostage" Jews in Arab countries—who have reportedly been the victims of pogroms and persecution—is the gravest facing the new state.

Israeli Immigration Commissioner Moshe Shapiro said that "top priority" will be given to the migration of these Jews to Israel.

He charged: "Since the adoption of the United Nations partition plan, there has been systematic persecution of these Jews by the Arabs. Pogroms are common aand Jewish business and property have been confiscated."

Israel, he said, has already begun an ambitious immigration program whose tempo will increase now that hostilities are virtually at an end.

By the close of 1948, Shapiro disclosed, 115,000 refugees and displaced persons will have arrived in Israel. Shapiro said that this figure exceeds the total immigration to the U. S. from Pearl Harbor to V-J day.

While bringing the Jews from Arab states to Palestine, Israel will also seek to clear Germany of all Jews who want to settle in the Holy Land by the close of 1949.

Shapiro also disclosed that the complete transfer of Jews from Bulgaria anad Yugoslavia soon will be completed and that large-scale immigration is expected to begin shortly from Romania and Hungary.

An officials of the Israeli immigration ministry now is en route to expedite the migration of more than 9,000 refugees from Shanghai. These Jews, originally refugees from Germany and Poland, have been in Shanghai 10 years.

The 11,000 Jews held in Cyprus camps, since attempting to run the British blockade, are also expected in Israel soon.

Shapiro said that Americans also are entering Israel in increasing numbers. Newcomers from the U. S., he said, include investors, technicians and craftsmen besides many veterans.

Relations Excellent; Bramuglia

Future Bright, Says Diplomat

WASHINGTON — (INS) — Argentine Foreign Minister Juan A. Bramuglia declared today that U. S.-Argentine relations are excellent" and attributed skeptical reports to "rumor, gossip and small-talk."

Bramuglia spent six days in the U. S. en route to Buenos Aires from Paris, where he presided over the security council for November. He is flying to Argentina today.

In an exclusive interview he described his visit to Washington as a "courtesy call," for which he was grateful because it afforded an opportunity for him to meet top-level U. S. government officials.

He said: "Insofar as face-to-face and personal meetings are an aid to better relations between policy-makers of Argentina and the U. S., my stay has been valuable and fruitful.

"But, of course, primarily the bonds between us are healthy and sound."

Bramuglia refused to comment specifically on what Argentine dispatches have labelled "discrimination" against that country by the economic cooperation administration in its purchases for Marshall Plan nations. Bramuglia said:

"Our economic interchange is on the whole very good. It should not be forgotten that in the last six months the U. S. has bought goods to the value of $120,000,000, which is a kind of record. If inside the next six months that level continues or rises, it will exceed even peak years."

The Argentine foreign minister declined to discuss his recent conversations with acting Secretary of State Lovett.

Hedric Coleman, 523 Lida street, was fined $15 and costs for unsafe operation: James M. Clingan, Mansfield, R. D. 2 paid $10 and costs for speeding, and $5 fines were assessed against James Hatfield, 65 Scott street, for having improper lights and Ray Hinamon, of Marion, for crossing the yellow line.

Action On Inter-state Cigaret Transport Seen

COLUMBUS — (INS) — It was practically a sure thing today that the 81st U. S. Congress would be asked to crack down on mail order houses offering cigarets for sale in nine states.

These would be the states with no cigarets or use taxes. The organizations which will play a great part in sponsoring a bill to put the mail order houses out of business would be the National Association of Tobacco Distributors, Inc., of New York, and the National Tobacco Tax Administrators' Association.

These two groups were behind a bill introduced in the House last session by Rep. Tom Jenkins (R) Ironton, and by Senator John Bricker (R) Columbus, in the Senate.

The bill which passed the House and was tabled by the Senate finance committee, would have put a one thousand dollar penalty on any inter-state cigaret shipper which failed to notify the taxing authority of a receiving state of the identity of the consumer.

The NATD estimates that these dubious shippers account for as much as 20 per cent of the cigaret consumption in the U. S. and are draining about 60 million dollars from the 39 states with cigaret and use taxes.

In a letter distributed recently to its members, the NATD said:

"In collaboration with the National Tobacco Tax Administrators' association, we actively supported the Jenkins bill in the last session of Congress. This bill was designed to curtail the nefarious practice of evading state cigaret taxes through mail-order shipment.

"The new Congress assembles on Jan. 3, under different leadership and with a changed complexion. We propose again, to activate the bill which was lost in the shuffle at the last session."

William D. Bailey, supervisor of the Ohio Excise tax division estimated there were about 100 such houses operating at present and that some of them had spread to non-taxing states through the use of agencies.

Bailey mentioned one such agency working out of Huntington, W. Va., which he said merely accepted orders for which the cigarets were shipped out of a non-taxing state.

He pointed out that the states were powerless to act against the shippers now because "no state can intertere with the free movement of goods."

Evangelism Series Set

A series of evangelism meetings will be held here next spring, starting March 13 and continuing through April 3, with Rev. Jack Schuler of Asbury college, Wilmore, Ky., as the speaker.

Decision to hold a second spring evangelistic series here was reached at a meeting of a number of Mansfield pastors and laymen at the Grace Brethren church.

Rev. Bernard Schneider, pastor of the church, was named as chairman of the proposed series with Rev. A. H. Perry as vice-president; Rev. Donald T. Martin, secretary; Rev. J. Frank Stewart, treasurer, and Howard McLaughlin, member of the committee.

McLaughlin is president of the "Fishers of Men" club which is sponsoring the series of meetings. They will be held in the Johnny Appleseed auditorium.

J. Stratton Shufelt, who was song leader last year when Dr. Robert M. Wells was the evangelist, will be here again next spring. Lester Barnett, former player with Rudy Vallee, will be the pianist.

Light Firm Testifies

COLUMBUS — (INS) — The State Utilities commission was to hear further company testimony in the Cleveland Electric illuminating company rate case today.

Attorney James W. Huffman, representing a group of complainants, said he would request continuation of the case as soon as the company completed presentation of thousands of pages of exhibits. He said this would probably occur sometime today.

Huffman said he was not in a position to examine company witnesses and that several weeks would be necessary to examine the scores of company exhibits.

Company Vice President Ralph M. Besse said yesterday that additional funds were necessary to finance improvements and to attract investment capital. He said the proposal would increase 1949 net revenue by about $2,780,000.

A cubic mile of warm or hot air may hold as much as 40,000 tons of potential rain, snow or hail.

'Pumpkin' Papers Now Made Public

WASHINGTON—(UP)—Here is a summary of the more important of the stolen state department documents made public by the House Un-American Activities committee in connection with its spy investigation (all are dated 1938):

1. A handwritten copy of a message from the U. S. embassy in London, dated March 3. (A government handwriting expert told the committee the writing was that of Alger Hiss). The note says the British naval chief of staff told the U. S. naval attache that despite pending negotiations, Britain would not change its plans for constuction of new cruisers and that new battleships would not be laid down before the end of the year.

2. A series of reports from our envoys in Europe at a time when Hitler was maneuvering toward the "Anschluss" or peaceful conquest of Austria, which came March 13, 1938. In early February, Hitler called Austrian Chancellor Kurt Schuschnigg to Berchtesgaden and demanded the inclusion of the nazi, Arthur Seyss-Inquart, in the Austrian cabinet. Schuschnigg bowed under Hitler's threats and complied.

Here's the picture painted by the American envoys:

Feb. 15. John C. Wiley, U. S. consul general in Vienna, wired he had attended a state dinner. Schuschnigg, Seyss-Inquart, other cabinett officers and the diplomatic corps were these."Atmosphere most oppressive." Schuschnigg described his visit to Berchtesgaden as "most horrible day" of his life and told the French ambassador that "Hitler undoubtedly a madman with a mission:"

That Hitler boasted he could march into Austria with greater ease than he had accomplished the demilitarization of the Rhineland. The French minister summed it up in these words—"It is not the end. It is the moment before the end".

Feb. 16. Wiley cabled that further cabinet changes had just occurred in Vienna because Hitler had demanded action by midnight and staged a military demonstration on the border.

Feb. 16. Ambassador William C. Bullitt reported from Paris on a conversation with the Austrian minister there. The minister read Bullitt a telegram he has just received from Schuschnigg. "It indicated Schuschnigg has by no means given up hope of maintaining Austrian independence;" that he didn't think Seyss-Inquart would "work in an under-handed manner" to advance the nazi cause; and that he was planning a political amnesty program to appease the nazis.

Feb. 17. Ambassador William Phillips at Rome (a former undersecretary of state) cabled that the Italian foreign minister Count Ciano told him inclusion of Seyss-Inquart in the Austrian government meant—

"A pronounced increase" of German influence in Austria but he nevertheless felt it far better to have cooperation between the two governments since any increase of Austrian hostility to Germany might be an invitation to Hitler to take some drastic step.

Feb. 18. Prentiss B. Gilbert, Berlin reported that he was convinced Schuschnigg had agreed at Berchtesgaden to gradual assimilation of the Austrian army into the German.

SEE WAR AVERTED

3. The documents include two reports from American envoys in Europe during the immediate Post-Anschluss period, as follows:

March 26. Arthur Bliss Lane, American minister to Yugoslavia, reported that the Yugoslav assistant minister for foreign affairs told him "The general European situation appears calmer; that Hitler will not attack Czechoslovakia realizing that such action would lead to general coalition against Germany and that war will probably be averted for two years at least."

March 29. Ambassador to Poland Anthony J. Drexel Biddle reported on a confidential chat with Polish Premier Josef Beck, who had just returned from a conference with Mussolini. Il Duce talked vaguely of a 'Potential counter-policy" to nullify "Germany's suspected aspirations in the Danubian valley" and the Balkans.

4. The documents include only one message from Spain. This is a report from the U. S. consul in Seville, Jan. 21, 1938. Franco had just been ousted from Teruel, a city which he recaptured a month later. The consul reported that "political optimism described in my Dec. 7 (a previous message not included in those published) has been rudely shaken" by loss of Teruel, but that "ultimate liquidation of the affair is expected by operation now developing."

5. Several of the messages were reports from envoys in China on Japanese troop movements, and other information pertaining to the Sino-Japanese war.

Letters to Santa Show U. S. Children Are Big-Hearted

By HARMAN W. NICHOLS

WASHINGTON -- (UP) — If you think the neighborhood kids are selfish little imps, you ought to read some of Santa Claus' mail.

Harry H. Heim, the manufacturer who bought the whole village of Savage, Md., and is going to entertain some 2,000 children there today, let me look over some of his mail.

You'd be surprised at the large percentage of youngsters who asked Santa Heim to remember somebody else first.

Typical was the childish pencil scribble of an eight-year-old girl named Linda, who said.

"Dear Santa. Please do not bring me a baby doll. Give it to some little girl who won't get anything for Christmas. We are not rich, but I already have one. I guess I have everything I need. But I could use a new hair ribbon if you have one. A red one. Thank you Santa."

A large number of the small fry wrote to Santa Heim and begged him to forget about them entirely and remember the "poor kids in China and Germany."

And a lot of the kids, wearing big American hearts, pleaded with the jolly old-timer to remember their brothers and sisters and playmates—and forgot to mention themselves.

Take another look at Junior tonight, Pop. He may be a better kid than you think he is.

Of course, not all of the letters were in the give-my-stuff-away vein. There were the usual requests for dolls, trains, rocking horses, and all of the other truck that makes the small ones happy.

One five-year-old boy named Perry had "Gaddy," his grandmother, write Santa that he heard Santa Heim had eight live reindeer.

"You could get along with seven and leave 'Dunder,' " the kid had Granny say for him. "All I want is one of your reindeer Dunder, if you please."

Noted Scientist Sees Great Atomic Future

By JOSEPH L. MYLER

WASHINGTON — (UP) — David E. Lilienthal believes that both atomic energy and mankind are here to stay.

He believes the one some day will tremendously benefit the other. He denies that the atomic bomb has made either man or his civilization obsolete.

His belief that atomic energy will be a boon and not a doom is grounded in faith—"a very deep faith that the earth was not created to be destroyed at the hand of man."

But Lilienthal's faith is buttressed by what he knows. Sitting in his walnut-paneled, octagonal office here, the atomic energy commission chairman told the United Press his reasons for believing man is on the threshhold of "a new world" of knowledge and power.

He talked about the supply of uranium, raw material of atomic energy; about current efforts of some authorities to allay public fear of atomic radiation; about relations between the civilian commission and the military; about atomic reactors and engines.

His declaration of faith in atomic energy and man's ability to control it took the form of answers to questions raised by the fearful and the untrusting and by what he calls "experts with axes to grind."

Question No. 1 was, "Is there enough uranium in the world to promise much of a future for atomic energy?" Some experts have asserted flatly there is not.

Lilienthal's answer: "I have yet to find any informed person, whether in the mining field or otherwise, who gives that (the question of supply) any concern. Statements to the contrary are not only wrong, according to all present indications, but completely wrong."

Question: Is it true that the atomic energy commission is not giving proper consideration to military views about the bomb? (Lt. Gen. Leslie R. Groves, wartime head of the bomb project, recently said that the military is being "completely ignored.")

Answer: Lilienthal said the law makes it the "paramount" duty of the commission to develop and improve the bomb in the interests of national defense and security. That, however, doesn't make the commission "synonymous with the armed forces;" it has other functions, too, Lilienthal said.

"But," he added, "it does mean our relations with the military must be constant, close and careful—and that is the case.

"Some people believe we should sit around in each other's socks. But what is needed and what we have is daily staff work with informed people working together."

Lilienthal said he couldn't predict whether the military high command always will hold its present view that atomic control belongs in civilian hands.

"I don't think we can guarantee the future 24 hours in advance," he said. "But as of now, as far as we know, the top military officials and the intermediate ones with whom we work are content."

The next question was about the conflict in expert testimony on the dangers of atomic radiation. Some scientists say they can't be overstated. Others, fearing panic among civilians if atomic war comes, insist that the radiation menace has been greatly overrated.

Lilienthal saw a "praiseworthy purpose" in efforts to "repair the effects of exaggeration." But he warned against a state of mind "even more dangerous than fear, namely complacence." On the other hand, he doesn't like the notion "of telling people how scared they should be."

Paratrooper Rests In Jail As Frauleins Wage Battle

BERLIN, — (UP) Two German girls waged a grim battle of words today over the love of Edward Lada, former paratrooper from Newark, N. J., who broke through the Berlin blockade to try to straighten out his tangled romance.

Ruth Riecke, 21, mother of his two-year-old daughter, sent word to Lada in his army jail cell that "you belong to me and Nancy." She said she still loved him.

Her rival, Ursula Schmitt, charged that Ruth was more interested in the food packages she was getting from his mother than in Lada himself.

Glumly awaiting trial on charges of illegal entry into occupied territory, Lada said he wanted to take the blonde Ursula and his illegitimate daughter back to the United States.

The brunette mother tried to get in the army stockade today to tell Lada that "Ursula isn't telling the truth." But she found that visitors were permitted only on Sunday, so she wrote him a letter.

She admitted that Lada left her for Ursula after Nancy was born.

"I have had nothing but trouble since she came between me and Ed," she said. She charged that her rival for his affections was "vulgar and heartless."

"It is true that I get gift packages from his mother," she continued. "But I am keeping our daughter with me, because I love her. She is all I have, now that Ursula has come between me and Ed."

"I still want to marry Ed," Ruth said. "And that's why." She pointed to two-year-old Nancy who was playing on the floor of a cold, two-room flat.

PAGE SIX — MANSFIELD, OHIO, TUESDAY, DECEMBER 14, 1948

Only NINE shopping days between now and Christmas—can you imagine that!

This is a queer country, with half of the people telling us how to save time, and the other half showing us how to waste it.

"I understand little of the mysteries of economics," says Pietro Nenni, Italy's left-wing Socialist leader. In this he has much company.

Now Truman's Really 'Elected'

JUST AS was expected, the electoral college yesterday went through the formality of "electing" Harry S. Truman as President of the United States for a four-year term to start next January 20.

Insofar as Ohio is concerned, instead of the slight margin by which Truman carried the state it might as well have been unanimous, as all of Ohio's electoral votes went to the President instead of the 13-12 division that would have shown proportional division of the total.

There has been much talk about revision of the electoral college method of choosing presidents, with appearance of considerable growth in favor of requiring each state's electoral votes to be cast in proportion to the popular vote, but any such action in advance of the 1952 election now appears unlikely.

Formula For Industrial Harmony

HARMONIOUS personal relationships are the basis of the accord between labor and management in a Chicago company with a record of seven years of successful co-operative production.

This condition dates from a strike in 1941 when the president of the company, Herbert J. Buchsbaum, then violently against unions, became acquainted with Samuel Laderman, union president. The two men discovered common interests which were the beginning of a pleasant personal relationship. This in turn led to an amicable and constructive working agreement.

The company's expansion from one plant employing 200 workers to four plants with 1600 employes dates from the time when labor and administration began to work together. Wage rates are twice as high as before, but production is higher and the quality of goods turned out has improved. A bonus system provides workers with their share of the profits and enough remains for company investments in new machinery and materials.

This gives the impression of being an ideal situation—one which it would be possible to approximate in many cases. Relinquishment of purely selfish aims and willingness to see the other person's viewpoint are the lubricants which make industrial relations run smoothly and productively.

Courtesy Isn't Too Much To Ask

NO BETTER opportunity for a study of people is likely to be found than during the rush of Christmas shopping, when sidewalks are filled, stores crowded and motor traffic unusually heavy.

It is under such conditions that courtesy—and lack of courtesy—is particularly noticeable, and courtesy is an attribute which provides an unfailing guide on which to base judgment of any man, woman or child.

Persons who jam their way through crowds; try to be waited on ahead of their turn; speak harshly to salespeople; jostle others impudently (as is the habit with some), or otherwise make themselves obnoxious in public places, all reflect traits which reveal neglected upbringing and which sometimes account for non-acceptance in communities where courtesy is considered a necessary part of good behavior.

Consideration for overworked salespeople during the holiday rush evidences courtesy in a fine way, and reciprocal treatment on the part of store employes is also commendable.

When shopping or driving your motor car in congested traffic, don't forget to be courteous—it pays.

Proposes Doctoring 'Sick Nations'

HAL O'FLAHERTY, writing for the Chicago Daily News, says that a study of the situations in Russia and in China has convinced him of the need for a new approach to the problem of dealing with them.

Mr. O'Flaherty believes that the United States is not in these instances dealing with normal people or normal nations. In China the past three years of civil war, added to ten years of war with Japan, not to mention centuries of poverty before these wars, have produced a worn-out, undernourished nation, whose reactions to situations are dictated by its physical condition.

Russia's state is one of nervous exhaustion, complicated by 25 years of starvation. Nor was Russia well-fed before 1917. Hypochromic anemics, as such victims are described by physicians, meaning pale and bloodless people, are incapable of making wise decisions, says O'Flaherty, and should be cured before they are required to make them.

Shots in the arm in the form of modern machinery, dietary advice and medical help would in two years, thinks this writer, improve the world's prospects for peace.

The obvious flaw in this argument is the fact that before a doctor can treat a patient, the patient must put himself in the doctor's hands. As long as Russia and China think they want only medicine, without accompanying medical advice, they probably will continue to be sick. The United Nations program for world health may in the meantime work an improvement in the physical environment for all sick nations.

Karakul Sheep Provide Luxury Coats

AMONG the animals exhibited at the recent National Farm and Garden Show in Chicago were Karakul sheep, which are the source of the skins which become Persian lamb coats. Exhibitors stated that American-grown sheep yield about half the pelts used in this country for this leading luxury item of the fur trade.

The other half of the skins are imported, likely not from what once was Persia but mostly from Afghanistan and the Bokhara region of Russia. The native haunt of the Karakul sheep was in the Hindu Kush mountains, where old Persia, Afghanistan and Bokhara touched.

Claude Callan advises: "You can't tell for sure whether you really are popular until you quit spending money freely on friends. There is just a bare possibility it is the money that is popular."

After a recent survey, the Wall Street Journal notes: "Sagging women's wear was brought up sharply"—thus escaping more general notice.

Probers Regain Spotlight

By THOMAS L. STOKES

WASHINGTON—It is becoming clear that a major issue is developing for the opening of the 81st Congress which has not been anticipated hitherto and which involves the basic question of civil rights, though not directly related, at least in the public mind, with President Truman's controversial civil rights program.

This revolves about the House un-American activities committee and its future role, if any, which suddenly has become again a source of conflict between the President and his administration and executive agencies, on the one hand, and Congress on the other.

Because of the election and certain other circumstances, some of them related to the election, it had appeared that the committee was to be relegated to a minor role henceforth, and the campaign to abolish it was being revived.

But this situation was changed dramatically by new and bizarre developments in the now famous Whittaker Chambers-Alger Hiss case.

The un-American activities committee uncovered new evidence and again seized the spotlight. Immediately a squabble arose between it and government agencies in the executive branch, including the state and justice departments.

The justice department promptly moved to place this new evidence before a grand jury in New York, where other aspects of what are now known as "the spy cases, have been investigated, to get the whole matter into the proper legal channel. Committee spokesmen thereupon shouted, in effect, "Robber!"

So the issue was joined.

President Truman, during a rather exhaustive press conference grilling, referred to the committee as "a dead" committee and when asked whether this meant it would be abolished he directed his questioner to the incoming speaker of the house, who will be Rep. Sam Rayburn (D., Tex.)

* * *

Now a Standing Committee.

WHETHER this means that the administration will seek to abolish the committee remains, for the moment, unanswered. There will be an opportunity to change its personnel considerably because of the electon.

If the objective is to abolish the committee, which is now a standing House committee, the move would have to be made at the outset of Congress when House rules and committees come up for ratification.

In this connection it may be recalled that the committee, which for some years had been merely a special committee whose authority was renewed from time to time, was made a standing committee by a surprise coup at the opening of the 79th Democratic Congress that was executed jointly by Republican House Leaders Rep. Joseph W. Martin (Mass.) and Rep. John Rankin (D., Mass.). They caught Democratic leaders off guard.

Previously, as a non-standing committee, it had to come in periodically for appropriatons, about which, however, there never was any real difficulty, because it was hard, as a political matter, to vote against funds for a committee charged with investigating "subversion" and "communism."

The administration would get considerable support from outside Congress in any move to abolish the committee or revise its personnel and procedures, as its inquisitory tactics have aroused basic fears about encroachment on the fundamental constitutional rights of citizens.

However, the committee unquestionably has strengthened itself with its new discoveries, and it will capitalize upon the prerogatives of Congress which are so jealously defended, especially under attack, in its attempt to continue its existence.

A real battle may be expected.

What's the Punishment?

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON — What charge can the government make against anyone in the spy case?

Perjury — lying under oath—at this moment seems to be the most serious the government may be able to make against anyone.

That statement is based on:

1. The opinion of lawyers who can't be identified further but who ought to know more about the possible charges than anyone in Washington.

2. All the information about the case now publicly known — and this has been checked with a number of people close to the case.

But the phrase—"now publicly known" — must be emphasized. The case is still under investigation. And the government may find some twist in the case which would enable it to make other charges besides perjury.

The punishment for anyone found guilty of perjury after a court trial is a maximum of five years in jail and a $2,000 fine.

Briefly the case is this:

1 Whittaker Chambers says he was part of the Soviet spy ring which rounded up secret government papers for the Russians before the war.

2. He says Alger Hiss, former state department official, was part of the ring and took some of the papers. Hiss denied this. So did the others Chambers named as sources for the papers.

Can anyone be charged with stealing those papers? What can be done to such a person?

Nothing, say the lawyers who give that opinion on what is now publicly known of the case. Why?

* * *

There's a Reason.

BECAUSE — and this is what the same lawyers say—under the law in this case a person who took the papers would have to be charged with the theft within three years after taking them.

But what about a charge against anyone who was found to have those papers in his possession even at this late date?

The lawyers say they can't find any law covering a thing like that in this case.

The government's continuing investigation may unearth evidence that the spy work continued a good while after 1938, when the papers were taken.

In that event some other charge might be made. But now there is nothing publicly known to indicate the spy ring, or a conspiracy, kept on working.

A federal grand jury in New York has been investigating reports of a pre-war communist spy ring here for 18 months.

The term of that jury—it was set up 18 months ago to work for 18 months—ends Wednesday when a new grand jury takes over.

Reports are strong here that the jury will charge, or indict, one or more people for perjury before it quits Wednesday.

Necessary Equipment.

Encouraging Outlook.

The census bureau finds the country's population has increased 15½ million in the last eight years and is now up to a total of 147,280,000, most of them no doubt taxpayers already or soon to get on the list.—Kansas City Star.

Timely Editorial

Props For Alcoholics.

If anything has been learned about the growing problem of the alcoholic it is that he must have something to lean on.

He uses drink as a prop. If this is to be removed, another that offers a sense of security must be built up in him.

Alcoholics Anonymous succeeds because it offers the fellow-feeling of persons, themselves experienced in the ways of alcohol, to sustain the subject until he can stand alone.

Alcoholism, here and everywhere, grows with life's growing tension, with its monotony, on repetitive jobs, and with its emptiness, particularly for women with time on their hands.

The search must be for a new direction and a revived sense of life's fullness. This must be cut to fit the individual.—Detroit News.

Washington Merry-Go-Round

Real Estate Lobby To Continue Attack

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON. — Unlike the Supreme Court, the real estate lobby does not believe in noting the election returns. Working diligently and secretly the real estate boys have now recruited an army of 3,300 amateur lobbyists to bombard Washington with a last-ditch stand against public housing and rent control.

This new lobbying force has been handpicked on the basis of personal friendship with influential congressmen. They are scattered throughout the grass-roots so as to make the movement appear spontaneous, and their names are carefully guarded until housing D-day before congress.

Meanwhile, Cal Snyder, chief lobbyist for the National Association of Real Estate Boards, is boasting that the lobby will defeat President Truman's housing program again—by at least 50 votes in the House.

The coalition of Republicans and southern Democrats boasts Snyder will still be able to block public housing and rent control in the new Congress. While he may not want it published, Snyder spoke off the record before the secretaries' council of the National Association of Real Estate Boards recently.

"Remember," he jubilated, "that Roosevelt had a Democratic Congress in 1938, and he asked a billion dollars for public housing. Roosevelt was a pretty smooth operator, but he didn't get the money for housing. There was a Democratic Congress again in '40, and they didn't get it. In '42 and '44 they didn't get it, either."

"Now is not the time to compromise," Snyder sounded the new battle cry. "Now is the time to get in there and punch. Now is the time, if you'll pardon the expression, to adopt the tactics of Harry Truman in the election. Get in there and fight."

Unregistered Lobbyists.

SNYDER is counting upon the army of 3,300 newly recruited, hometown lobbyists to turn the tide. They will not register as lobbyists but operate as congressman's constituents.

In most cases, congressmen won't even realize they are dealing with lobbyists controlled from Washington. They will be close personal friends of the congressmen, picked because they can influence votes.

To finance this operation, the National Association of Real Estate Boards is asking $5 a head from its members. This should swell the total lobbying kitty to more than $200,000. In most cases, however, the lobbyist-constituent will pay his own way to Washington.

* * *

Lobby Rollcall.

THIS grass-roots army doesn't mean that the real estate lobby is doing away with its "commando squad" already operating on Capitol Hill. These professionals represent every phase of home building, and in order that new congressmen may know who they are, here is a list of the key real estate lobbyists:

Doug Whitlock—Chunky, genial, glad-hander for the Building Products Institute, which supplies materials for building homes.

Frank Cortwright—Suave, dignified executive vice president for the National Association of Home Builders, which builds the homes.

Herb Nelson—Shrewd executive vice president for the National Association of Real Estate Boards which sells the homes. His chief working lobbyist is Cal Snyder, who spins yarns and manipulates votes with the best of them. Another teammate is slender, young Albert Payne, who does most of the paper and leg work.

Morton Bodfish — Astute king of them all. He represents the U. S. Savings and Loan League, which finances the homes.

John Owen—Wealthy, elderly president of the National Apartment Owners Association, which wants to boost rents. His right-hand man is blond, egotistical Burton Edwards, who spends freely and boasts of having congressmen in his pocket.

Herbert Brill—Executive secretary of the New York City Metropolitan Fair Rent committee. Discharged from the Army as captain, he still refers to himself as "Captain Brill."

These are the men whom President Truman once branded as the worst lobby in Washington and who are girded for last-ditch action when Congress convenes Jan. 3.

Chennault's Memoirs.

IN WRITING his memoirs, Maj. Gen. Claire Chennault, former Flying Tigers' chief, started to include a story which the history books had missed. Then he cut out all but a vague reference—upon direct orders from Madame Chiang Kai-shek.

It has never been told before, but Chennault personally flew against the Japs long before he organized his famed Flying Tigers. Madame Chiang even went shopping to buy a plane for him, paid Curtiss- Wright $55,000 for a trim Hawk Special—forerunner of the P-36.

As early as 1937, the steel-jawed Chennault went gunning for Japs in this private fighter plane, and Madame Chiang paid him $500 for each Jap he shot down. In those early skirmishes, Chennault bagged 80 Jap planes for a total of $15,000.

The rugged China ace decided to tell this story in his forthcoming memoirs, but Madame Chiang put her foot down. She would only permit Chennault to say that the Madame had bought him a plane. However, he slipped in this guarded hint: "It was in the Hawk Special that I got my first taste of Jap flak and fighter tactics, and that I learned some of the lessons that later saved many an American pilot's life over China."

Told Between Groans

By KENNETH L. DIXON

MERIDA, Yucatan, Mexico—If you are hungry, do not read this. You will suffer unmentionable tortures. If you have just finished eating a big meal, do not read it. You will get glassy-eyed and go stumbling about the bathroom, hunting for the bicarbonate of soda.

This concerns the biggest, the most luscious, the most spectacular meal I have ever seen spread on a single groaning board — and, between groans, I will try to tell you about it.

Some days ago, a passel of us stateside newspapermen went out to Chi Cheen Itsa, ninety miles from Merida, to see the ancient Mayan ruins. While there, we stayed at the Mayaland Lodge, a very snazzy hostelry, half-hidden in the jungle, where ancient thatch-roofed huts boast modern plumbing facilities and are connected with the main lodge by little twisting pathways, and where south-of-the-border minstrels fling soft and gay songs out over the night air.

Well, while we were there, Fernando Barbachano, boss of the lodge and an alumnus of Duke university, although a native Yucatecan, made things as pleasant as possible for us visiting scribblers, and that can be mighty pleasant, indeed, but the last day he really outdid himself.

According to the script, what he pitched for us before we departed was supposed to be a buffet luncheon, and probably from a tactical point of view that nomenclature was correct.

But, take it from an old trencherman of international reputation, that was the dawggondest meal I ever tackled in all my born days!

We had been told previously of the abundance of fish, fowl and wildlife throughout Yucatan, how everything was practically open season the year round, and we had seen wild ducks so tame they actually came up around the patio of a night club in the middle of Merida, but we figured the guitar player probably was honking on a duck-call between numbers, so we didn't consider the situation seriously from a point of view of groceries.

Fernando taught us our lesson.

* * *

It's the Truth, Folks.

WHEN we came back to the lodge, hungry from stumbling around the stone ruins, this is what — loosen your belt and read carefully — we found on the overburdened table which ran half the length of the big lodge dining room:

Russian caviar, Spanish sardines, filet of anchovies, Jalapenam peppers, picklees, olives and radishes — as appetizezrs.

Ham in wine sauce, wild turkey, Jigote venison (there's deer all over them thar hills!), meat with eggs combined, turkey in black sauce, burned dried peppers and suckling pig.

(This latter, incidentally, was brabecued in Yucatan Indian style, which meant that it was cooked underground, wrapped in banana leaves and covered with hot stones.)

Then, (take a deep breath) there also were empanaditas stuffed with meat, asparagus in French dressing, chicken salad, salad of tender turnips, "Mayaland" fruit salad, mashed black beans (the twice-fried kind), crisp tortillas, Spanish fried potatoes, Holland cheese, fresh sliced pineapple and bananas.

Also (still with me?) there were assorted crackers, guava and membrillo paste, "Mayaland" golden star (a crisp, fine-textured, doughnut-like pastry), individual assorted cakes and coconut ice cream!

To wash down these assorted viands, there was iced tea, coffee, beer or Coca-Cola, depending on the individual's desire, and all through the meal, the Mayaland musicians played and sang Mexican songs from the balcony overlooking the dining room.

Actually, there were many additional dishes, but I can't remember them at the moment. Anyhow, that gives you an idea.

Up to that burdened table scurried a score or more of lean and hungry newspapermen, nostrils distended, eyes alight, practically drooling. You've seldom seen a more famished-looking pack.

Two hours later the glassy-eyed crowd staggered to its feet, pushed its bulging bay-windows ahead of it and waddled out the door. Since we had to return to Merida that afternoon, it was necessary to pack, and seldom have men suffered more, trying to bend over to reach a pair of socks or a dirty shirt on the floor.

If we'd stayed for dinner, it would have been the death of us all!

Farmer's Diary

Farming Is Immortal

By CALVIN A. BYERS

A GREAT thought changes things about it, has substance, becomes life, and is immortal. The sweet soothing tones of Beethovan and Handel will never cease. They ring out through the ages like reverberations of a restless bell.

If all were lost from this earth when we see it no more, how dark this world would be. The sense of sight withdrawn, the picture still remains. Even the flower that is "born to blush unseen" becomes immortalized through the discernment of its interpreter.

Plato said, "The ideal forms of human institutions are laid away in heaven." But as those ideals pull upward the minds of men—especially men on farms—a little of heaven touches earth.

Simple farm people, natural living, adequate food to furnish courage and comfort—these have furnished the background of great men of history. A great modern preacher expressed it that a man is immortal so long as he is useful. Lincoln is still useful. The spirit of Christmas is still useful.

"Kind words can never die . . . " "Creative impulses are possible only in an atmosphere of love and confidence." . . . "Peace on earth, goodwill toward men." . . . All these thoughts are expressions of the same idea.

Human appreciation creates immortality. The friendship of David and Jonathan, the despair and homesickness for the temple in Jerusalem, immortalized by the Jews in song and story.

Wordsworth said, "The thought of our past years doth breed in me perpetual benediction. . . ." Another poet speaks of the soaring lark that still is content to return to the lowly ground.

Real farmers—those "born" not made — have immortal significance to the land of their labors —whether they be American farmers or French peasants or workers of India, Russia or China. For a REAL farmer works creatively, reverently, to make the world naturally wholesome and livable.

Perhaps there are many real farmers who have never lived on the wide open spaces of the land! (I have known a few).

"The songs that spring, on upward wing
From hearts that sing they must
Will soar and sing, unwearying,
When hearts are dust."
—RONSARD.

File Suits For $39,260 In Damages

4 Bring Action Following Mishap

Four suits for damages totaling $39,260 were filed against Roderick Yoakum, Shelby, R. D. 1; in Common Pleas court yesterday.

The actions grew out of an accident between cars driven by Yoakum and Mrs. Margaret Ann Weaver, Shelby, R. D. 2, at the intersection of Myers road and the Lexington-Springmill road Oct. 16, 1947.

The major part of the damages sought are for personal injuries which the plaintiffs charge resulted from the accident.

The largest amount sought by any one of the four plaintiffs is $27,000 asked by Jacob J. Weaver, Shelby, R. D. 1. Weaver was a passenger in the car driven by his daughter-in-law, Mrs. Weaver. He charged in his petition that the collision at the intersection which caused the Weaver car to overturn was the result of the defendant's reckless and negligent driving.

SAYS LAW VIOLATED

Weaver alleged that Yoakum failed to yield the right-of-way, disobeyed a traffic signal, drove more than 50 miles an hour and on the wrong side of the road.

Weaver asks $25,000 for personal injuries, and $2,000 for injuries to his wife, Elizabeth. Weaver's wife filed suit for $5,000 in her own name for injuries to her face, and body, and nervous shock resulting from the accident.

Mrs. Margaret Ann Weaver, the driver, filed a petition for $5,000 for personal injuries which she said resulted from the accident and for damage of $260 to her automobile.

Philip A. Weaver, Shelby, R. D. 2, the driver's husband, filed suit for $2,000 against Yoakum for medical expenses incurred by his daughter, Shirley Weaver, also a passenger in the car.

Hodcarriers' Union Constitution Gives Officers Complete Powers

I INVITE students of law and public affairs to read carefully this analysis of one of the more outrageous travesties on constitutional administration in that vast parasitic, predatory body, the American union movement.

I think it is fair to insist that Mr. Truman was defending, in his campaign speeches, the powers of the racketeers in the Hodcarriers' Union whose constitution I will now examine for your education.

The preamble, in a spirit of mockery, imitates the preamble to the Constitution of the United States.

"Article 1 - Section 1. This body is sovereign and independent of its component parts."

Can you imagine what sort of government we would have if the government of the United States were "sovereign and independent of its component parts"?

Talk that over in the class room. Remember, this is an old A. F. of L. constitution.

It would be helpful in your studies to get a copy of this document. The local in your town or neighborhood might be willing to give you a copy although many of the little bosses are ignorant, superstitious men who would be afraid you were a tool of Wall Street.

"Section 2. — It (This body, meaning the union) shall consist of the president, the vice presidents (six) and the general secretary treasurer; and, in convention assembled (The last interim between conventions was 31 years and the minimum interval is five years) these officers and the duly elected delegates representing the local unions."

That is to say, for a period of about four days once in five, ten, fifteen or more years, the national bosses may nominally share their "sovereign, independent" po power with the delegates. Most of the delegates are local racketeers and the conventions are vast souse-parties at the expense of hoi polloi. The hoodlums usually bring their "secretaries" along for the fun. Many of the secretaries are garish female tramps.

"Section 4 — The powers of this international union are legislative, executive and judicial." That is plain language. These high officers have the power to make the laws, administer them and sit as judges in cases brought against their rivals by themselves. This section 4 continues: "As the sovereign authority it (the mob) has the power to revoke existing charters and to govern, regulate and supervise these subordinate bodies."

By revoking the charter of a prosperous local the highbinders can grab its treasury. They fix their own salaries and expenses and hire their relatives for nominal jobs at high pay. They do not have to account for the money and they don't.

Well, there is an old, substantial A. F. of L. constitution for you.

Talk it up in class and see how you would like to live under such provisions in a national government. This racket has had a million members, most of whom paid $50 to get in, and President Truman damned the Taft-Hartley law as an attempt to enslave the American worker.

Hollywood Star Who Behaves Self Proves Amazing to New Yorkers

NEW YORK—There is an unusual young man from Hollywood in town.

He's been here a week and hasn't kicked a pigeon in the shins—let alone a policeman. He hasn't put his fist against anybody's face in a burst of Bourbon-born exuberance. Nor has he been accused of being the life of a reefer party.

These are negative virtues, mayhap, but Jerome Courtland, who bears the heavy responsibility of having given Shirley Temple one of her first grownup screen kisses, has positive virtues as well.

The shy, gangling, six-foot-five-inch young actor is the most refreshing ambassador the movie moguls have sent here in years.

Jerry, a 22-year-old ex-sergeant who has been in five pictures, came to town without wearing the dark glasses with which many film visitors announced their calling. He's been to only one night club. He doesn't drink or smoke, and his favorite beverage is milk.

"I drink a couple of quarts a day," he said. "Not as much as I used to."

This is his first visit to Manhattan and these are his impressions:

"The buildings don't look as tall as I expected, but the streets are wider than I thought they'd be.

"You sure do have screwball elevator operators.

"Out in Los Angeles the street numbers run much higher than they do here."

A student of architecture (nonfeminine), Jerry has found the sky towers here less interesting than the advanced building styles of California.

One landmark of the New York scene, Toots Shor, the monumental restaurateur, appeared completely unknown to young Courtland. Shor's place is better known to most film visitors than Grant's tomb (it's noisier, too).

But Jerry, picking up a match cover in Toots' epic filling station, misread it and said:

"Toots Shop. What's that?"

For this one remark he deserves to become a figure of Broadway admiration.

Jerry established another precedent by remarking seriously:

"I want to see a lot of museums while I am here—particularly the American Museum of Natural History."

This was almost heresy. A live movie actor in that place—that "dead zoo." Why, the dinosaur might come to life in wonder.

Jerry made two films, including "Kiss and Tell," the picture in which he gave Miss Temple a memorable smooch, before entering the army. He is currently featured in "The Man From Colorado."

"But I really don't expect to stay in the movie business as an actor," he said gravely. "I'm not gregarious I like to meet people, but I like to pick when. And you can't do that if you're an actor."

Girl Scouts To Sing In Central Park

Offer Carols Four Nights Next Week

Christmas carols will echo throughout Central park four evenings next week as Mansfield area Girl Scouts provide an old-fashioned program of Christmas carols.

It will be the first time that the Girl Scouts have provided such a program. In previous years Scouts usually went out with neighborhood groups to sing carols.

In making the announcement today, Miss Margaret Rooney, executive director of the Girl Scouts, said the girls will sing at the pavilion in the park from 7 to 7:30 p. m. Monday through Thursday. From 7:30 to 8 p. m., they will go to the hospitals for carol singing.

Miss Rooney said popular Christmas songs will not be included on the program since this is to be an old-fashioned program of Christmas carols. Participating in the program will be the 1,200 Girl Scouts, with various groups of them alternating each night.

PARENTS HELP

Miss Rooney said each troop has a committee of parents who will take care of the transportation, taking the girls to the park, to the hospitals, and then home. Girls who will participate include the Brownies, the intermediate and the senior Girl Scouts.

Among the songs on the program are "Silent Night," "First Noel," "We Three Kings," "Away In a Manger," "O Little Town of Bethlehem" and "Come, All Ye Faithful."

The participating groups for each of the nights follow:

Monday — Girls Scouts from Prospect, Newman, Brinkerhoff, Simpson and Senior high schools, led by Miss Marilyn Little.

Tuesday, Dec. 21 — Girl Scouts from Grubaugh, Bowman, Woodville, Appleseed and Madison high schools, with Mrs. Joy A. Herbert as leader.

Wednesday, Dec. 22 — Those from Woodland, West Fifth street, Carpenter and Simpson, led by Mrs. Scott Brown.

Thursday, Dec. 23—East Mansfield, Hedges, Lincoln Heights, Bushnell, Senior, Appleseed and Madison, led by Mrs. W. H. Marshall.

HATS, THEY CLAIM—Mrs. Frank Vanderlip, left, wears a "Fire Engine" hat, complete with bell, at the Bal de Tete (which means something like Dance of Ze Head) in New York. At right, Walter Pidgeon picks Mrs. Brooks Howe's "Legs" as the most ingenious creation. Twig-hatted Jarmila Notovna was the 'most beautiful" winner. Proceeds from the affair will provide music lessons for disabled vets.

Firm Acts On Strike

COLUMBUS, — (AP) — The bitter American Zinc Oxide company dispute took a new turn today when the company revealed it has told strikers their jobs will be forfeited unless they return to work by tomorrow.

Ralph Perkins, the firm's industrial relations director, announced the ultimatum. He said management wrote strikers they must be on the job tomorrow, or their names will be dropped from the payroll.

Wages are not an issue. The union struck when the company refused to renew a contract until the union's international officers sign non-communist affidavits.

The big feast is going to be held at 6:30 p. m. in the John Simpson cafeteria and will be attended by a majority of the members of the police department and city officials.

The funds for the annual banquet will be provided by the Police Recreation committee.

The Schoolboy Patrolmen, who guard the street crossings as pupils go and come from school, have been praised by Traffic Commissioner Frend C. Boals as influential in cutting down the number of traffic accidents involving school children during school hours.

Taxi Crash Injures Two

A Mansfield woman and her nine-month-old granddaughter were injured shortly after noon yesterday when the taxi in which they were riding was rammed from behind by another taxi at Orange street and First avenue, police said.

Suffering contusions of the back and head as a result of the mishap were Mrs. Ann Brooks, 48, of 289 Orange street, and Nancy Brooks, nine months. Both were reported convalescing at their home today.

Meanwhile, police cited Rudy Schneider, 131 South Franklin avenue, to appear in traffic court Wednesday at 1:30 p. m. to answer a charge of unsafe operation. Schneider, police said, was the driver of the Ace company cab which rammed the Veterans cab in which Mrs Brooks and the child were riding. Police said the mishap occurred at 12:45 p.m.

Walter Prosser, 386 Ruth avenue, driver of the Veterans cab, told police he was heading east on Orange street when the other cab struck his car from behind.

DRESSED FOR WINTER—

He was just a little curly-haired dog with impudent tail sticking straight up, but he walked along feeling quite important and high-hatting all the other dogs he met on his walk. The reason? He had a blanket around his thin little body and he was quite comfortable, thank you, in spite of the cold weather.

★

CAROLS FOR SHOPPERS—

Shoppers in the vicinity of the First Lutheran church last night had a foretaste of Christmas music. They stopped for a moment or two to listen as the hymns and carols came out on the frosty night air. Men in the church were entertaining themselves with a record player while working on a platform for the Sunday night Christmas program and one of them had rigged up a loud speaker so that townspeople could enjoy the program, too.

RESPONSE LAGS—

Response to Juveline Officer Ralph Carroll's appeal for gifts for children under commitment by the juvenile court has been "poor," compared with other years. Apparently, everyone is expecting the $75, contributed by the 40 et 8 of the American Legion, to carry the entire load, Carroll said. Carroll reported today that he understood several Shelby groups are getting presents together. He said he has had several calls from persons interested in contributing and that one woman brought in four presents. Carroll asked that contributions of gifts or money with which to buy them, be received in the juvenile court office by next Monday in order that gifts can be wrapped and taken to the Boys' or Girls' industrial schools and to other institutions by Christmas. He can be reached in the juvenile court office in the courthouse.

Detention Quarters Sought

Board Decides On Program

Richland county started a new search today for temporary quarters for juvenile delinquents.

County commissioners revealed at a meeting yesterday afternoon that they plan to buy a property in the city for a detention home as soon as a suitable place is available. The county must give up its quarters in the Salvation Army building Dec. 31.

Meanwhile, they said rooms must be found in private homes for at least two or three months, until permanent quarters can be set up.

The commissioners asked that persons who have a room or two available for quarters call Probate Judge Stuart H. Cramer or the commissioners' office at the courthouse.

A previous appeal for rooms in private homes brought no response.

NEED SEPARATE HOMES

Judge Cramer said rooms for boys and girls in separate homes are needed after Dec. 31. Older delinquent boys who are difficult to handle will not be placed in private homes, the judge said.

The more belligerent prisoners will be held in the city and county jails at least until a permanent home for delinquents can be provided.

Commissioners and Judge Cramer met yesterday afternoon with members of the Salvation Army board, George Smith, A. M. Colby, H. G. Brunner, and Charles Hoffman, and Jane Williams, executive secretary of the Mansfield Community Chest.
